

The proposed reviewer should meet the following requirements:

1. There can be no conflict of interest between the reviewer and any of the authors.
2. The reviewer cannot be related to any of the authors.
3. The reviewer cannot be employed in the same institution as the authors.
4. The reviewer cannot be a co-author of the publication with any of the authors over the past 3 years.
5. The reviewer must have at least a doctoral degree.
6. The reviewer should have a documented publication record within the scope of problems related with the reviewed article.
7. The reviewer must be employed in a scientific institution (a higher education institution or a research institute), this does not apply to persons with the title of at least habilitated doctor.